Need Slated For Briefing

Sig Unander, Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate, Friday sent a telegram to President Kennedy urging him to call all newly-elected senators and congressmen to Washington for military and intelligence briefings 10 days after the general elections.

Unander's telegram said in part:

"Because of the crucial international situation today and the powder kegs that exist in Cuba and Berlin I believe a thorough political and military briefing is in order for the congressmen - elect who will shape this nation's policies starting next January."

Unander said the new congressmen should get briefings from the State Department, Central Intelligence Agency and military intelligence officers "within a matter of days after their election."
